For Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale a tract of 80 acres of land, on the Colchester road, five miles from Alexandria, adjoining the lands of Haywood Foote and Dennis Johnston. The greater part of this tract is fine meadow land, abundantly supplied with water. Also one other tract of 261 acres, on the Ravensworth road, about 6 miles from Alexandria, and one mile from the first mentioned tract, adjoining land of Thos. Janney and Mr.
M'Pherson: the greater part of this tract is in wood, the soil good and highly susceptible of improvement from the use of plaster. If these lands are not sold before the first of January next, they will then be for rent.

CHARLES SIMMS.

Gill Nets! Gill Nets!

To the Citizens of Washington, Frederick, and Montgomery counties.

As the General Assembly of Maryland will sit in the course of a few weeks, I take the liberty of calling the attention of the people of the upper counties to the subject of Gill Nets; that all those who may agree with me in opinion, may unite in petitions to the Legislature to pass such laws as may effectually prevent the use of them hereafter in the Potomac.
Since the introduction of these Nets into our waters, the people of the upper counties have experienced the most pernicious effects of this practice. It is a fact well known, that many persons at the last season, after leaving their homes, with their teams, at the most busy season of the year, and travelling, perhaps, from 50 to 100 miles to reach the nearest landings, and after being detained there a considerable time, exposed to the inclemencies of the weather, and often without any shelter but what was afforded to them by the coverings of their waggons, while their crops too were suffering greatly at home, were obliged at last to return without any fish. Some procured their Herrings, but not one in ten could get the Shad they wanted for their families. These Gill Nets, it is said, are fished almost exclusively by persons from the Eastward—a covetous people they must be:—they would take the bread from our mouths if they could do it—and they certainly will the fish if left to themselves. It is stated they had 500 vessels engaged in this business during the last season; such a number of Nets will form such an obstruction in the river as to keep back the Shad altogether, and by breaking the schools of Herrings will render even the catching of them uncertain. And what adds to our grievance, the fish that are caught in this manner are not disposed of to our ci-zens, but are cured on board the vessels that take them, and carried as an article of traffic to some other portions of the Union, or, perhaps, to foreign parts.

The people of the upper counties are peculiarly situated; living remote from any of the Rivers, with which nature has so bountifully watered our state, they have only an opportunity afforded to them once a year of procuring fish of any kind for their families; and it rests with the Legislature to determine whether they shall be deprived of this right, attended as it is too, with great sacrifice, expense and trouble; and it must be known too to the members that may compose that body, that fish, from long use and custom, have become indispensably necessary to our families.

If any doubt should exist as to the facts herein stated, I have only to observe that they will be entirely removed by referring to any one from either of the upper counties, who attended at the landings either of the two last seasons, particularly the last.

Having said much more than I intended, I have only to call upon all those who feel an interest in this business, to lose no time in getting signatures to such a petition as I have recommended,—and also to see and converse upon the subject with such persons as they may think proper to send as delegates to the next General Assembly; and I have also to request the favor of the editors of the Fredericktown papers, to give these remarks a place in their respective papers, that the subject may be fully brought before the people of the upper counties.

Notes of the Western Banks at a discount, by calling at his Office. For the information of all persons throughout the U.

States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns—all persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeiters on the District Banks. The Merchants' Bank of

MISSION TO JERUSALEM.

"A mission is about to be sent from America to Jerusalem. After ages of darkness, the light of the gospel is soon to illumine the shores of Palestine."

Long hath the crescent's glittering sign
On Salem's temple shone;
Long hath Jehovah's awful shrine
Stood desolate and alone.

The tents of Midian tribes unbent
On Shinar's plain have spread;
The wanderer's foot hath rudely prest
The soil where Jesus bled!

But Shiloh comes!—to bless the land,
And Israel's tribes restore;
Lo! Edom, with Assyria's band,
On Calvary shall adore!

Fair Lebanon shall hear his voice,
And land where Jordan flows,
With Sharon's desert shall rejoice,
And blossom as the rose!

No more shall Zion's daughters mourn,
Nor captive Judah sigh;
Jehovah shall her walls adorn,
And bring his ransom'd night.

* Isaiah xxxv. 1.
† And the ransomed of the Lord shall return, and come to Zion with songs, and sorrow, and sighing, shall flee away.—Isaiah xxxv. 10.

SECRET ENTERPRISE.

A gentleman in the Cooperstown (N. Y.) Freeman's Journal, advertises for 100 "athletic young men, of good health and morals," to engage in "an honorable and useful enterprise," which, though it may be attended with "danger and hardships," will be an "amusing and profitable" employment. No married persons will be engaged, and those applying must have the desired qualifications, certified by a magistrate of the county of Otsego (N. Y.). Their services will be required in the spring, when an explanation of the views and intention of the advertiser will be made known to those only who may be engaged. Application to be made to the office of the Freeman's Journal. Wages liberal, and the term of engagement two years.

(*) We would recommend to all applicants to supply themselves with suits of Buffalo, and with ropes of a goodly length, as we think it is ten to one the advertiser is enlisting recruits for the chivalrous captain Symmes, who proposes to descend into the bowels of the earth upon rope ladders, at the north pole. [Connecticut Mirror.

Milton being asked by a friend whether he would instruct his daughters in the different languages—replied, "No, sir; one tongue is sufficient for a woman."

Alexander the Great, seeing Diogenes look attentively at a parcel of human bones, asked the philosopher what he was looking for—to which he replied, "That which I cannot find—the difference between your father's bones and those of his slaves."

A sailor and two of his shipmates once wanted to go from Portsmouth to Petersburg; when one staying behind, desired the other two to proceed on foot, while he went and hired a horse. When he came to a lively stable, the ostler brought him out a short-backed, light galloway, about fourteen hands high. Zounds, says Jack, this will not do for me; he is too short in the back. Oh, sir, replied the ostler, he is the better for that. D—n him, he will not do, I tell you; get me a horse with a longer back, for I have two more to take up at the turnpike.

ZENO ON LOVE.

Zeno being told that love was unbecoming a philosopher, replied, "If it were true, the fate of the fair sex would be lamentable, not to be loved but by fools."

A gouty gentleman in Palace-yard, London, being one night sitting alone by his parlour fire-side, a well-drest man came very civilly into the room, with a "Sir, I observe your servant is just gone to the ale-house, and carelessly left your street door open: how easy it would be now for any rascal to come in, and blow out these two wax-candles, thus! and thus! and run away with this heavy pair of candlesticks!" which he accordingly did, without waiting for a reply.

CONTRADICTION.

"What objection can you have to me," said a wife of Bath to her husband; "it is absolutely impossible for two people to be more of one mind—you want to be master, and so do I."

ALEXANDRIA:
MONDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1818.

We have copied at large the reports of Messrs. Commissioners Rodney and Graham, on the subject of the affairs of South America, of which they afford a just historical and political view. Accompanying these reports, as will be seen by the list of papers appended to them, were a number of documents, some of which have served as the basis in part of the reports, and others tend to illustrate them. The substance of those papers being embodied in the reports, it is not thought necessary to publish them at present, being too voluminous for our columns, if not too much so to be generally read. [National Intelligencer.

In the Senate of the United States, Nov. 26, the joint resolution, to request the President to take measures to obtain permission of the Hon. Bushrod Washington, for Congress to cause a suitable monument to be erected over the remains of his illustrious relative, the late Gen. George Washington, where they now lie; also to authorize him to give the sum of dollars for the best plan of a monument for the purpose aforesaid, to be decided on by the President, the Chief Justice, the Secretary of the different Departments, and the Attorney General; and appropriating dollars for the expenses thereof, was read a second time. [Ibid.

In the House of Representatives, Nov. 26, the following Message was received from the President of the United States, by Mr. J. J. Monroe, his secretary:

To the House of Representatives of the United States.
I lay before the House of Representatives a report from the Commissioner of the Public Buildings, made in compliance with a resolution of the Senate, of the 28th of January last, requiring a statement of the expenditures upon the Public Buildings, and an account of their progress, to be annually exhibited to Congress.

The Message was read, and with its enclosures, referred to the committee on public buildings. [Ibid.

During the present term of Baltimore city court, Edward Martin was convicted of burglary for breaking open and robbing the store of Mr. Keplinger, watchmaker, on the night of the 26th August last, and of other offences, and sentenced on each of three several indictments to serve five years in the penitentiary.

John Davis and William Ray, each indicted for the same offences, pleaded guilty, and received similar sentences.

Two other cases we notice, in hope they may operate as a salutary caution.—John Craig and Benjamin Newman were each convicted of passing a counterfeit bank note, knowing it to be counterfeit, and sentenced, the first to serve eight, and the latter seven years in the penitentiary. Too many persons, it is feared, think themselves justified in passing away counterfeit notes which they have received in the course of business, as genuine; it will be seen by the sentences passed in the above cases, that when a note is known to be counterfeit by the person who passes it, the offence is considered by the court as deserving a punishment equal to that inflicted on robbers and house breakers. New-York, November 26.
SHIPWRECK.

The brig Savannah Packet, Fowler, which sailed from this port on the 6th of October for Mobile, with a valuable cargo, was lost on Abaco, the 8th day out. The crew and passengers, about 50 souls in all, were saved, and have arrived at Nassau, N. P. The brig Rival, from Boston for Mobile, was also wrecked near the same place on the 18th of last month. The following is an extract of a letter, received yesterday morning via Havana, from one of the passengers, to the owner of the Savannah Packet. [Mercantile Advertiser.

NASSAU, N. P. OCT. 30, 1818.

"I have this moment arrived here, and am under the painful necessity of acquainting you with the loss of the brig Savannah Packet, wrecked on shore off the Island of Man Jack, one of the keys of Abaco, 45 leagues distant from this place, in a violent storm and gale of wind on the night of the 14th inst. The regret and mortification experienced in consequence of this unfortunate event, I feel unable to express. No blame can be attached to Capt. Fowler, but on the contrary, in justice to himself, officers and crew, I must remark that every aid in the power of men to render, was granted by them from the commencement of the voyage until its unfortunate termination.—The extreme violence of the gale completely frustrated all the exertion that could be made. Land was descried on this unfortunate day at about 11 o'clock A. M. under our lee; the weather was then squally and thick, attended with rain; the vessel was hauled upon the wind which was not blowing very heavy but continued increasing until 1 P. M.; at this time it may be said to have blown a gale, and still continued increasing till 3 P. M. when it blew with such violence as rendered our situation hopeless—shore and breakers under our lee and close aboard, sometimes within the length of the vessel; we had continued tacking ship to avoid both until nearly 6 P. M. At this time we had no alternative left but to run inside between the breakers and try the anchors; having become completely land locked was unable to work off the shore upon either tack. The anchors held the brig until about 11 P. M. when the gale had increased to a hurricane and soon after plumped us on the beach. Before daylight the brig bilged and filled with water. The passengers landed and struck tents to shelter themselves from the weather; went to work to save as much of the property as practicable. The weather continued stormy and surf running very high prevented us from doing but little until the 17th inst. when several wrecking vessels came to aid us, but it was not practicable to complete unloading until the 28th, when all hands embarked for this place with all the cargo saved. Most of the cargo liable to damage by water has been very much injured in consequence of being under water so long. I purpose chartering a vessel to land the passengers at Mobile Point, the expense to be divided between us, and think it probable I shall not be detained here longer than a week. The cargo will be sold or commenced upon 3d November.

The brig Rival, from Boston, bound to Mobile, was wrecked on the 18th inst. about 50 miles from the Savannah Packet; her cargo saved, but mostly damaged—it has been brought here and sold. The situation of the Rival was more favorable for saving the cargo with dispatch than the Savannah Packet. The 28th was the first day the weather would permit us to depart, having a very dangerous passage to pass through. The passengers in the Rival left here for Havana a few minutes after I arrived. I had only time to board the vessel and request Mr. Powers, who goes on to New-York, to inform you of our fate.

From the N. York Com. Advertiser, Nov. 26.
LATEST FROM ENGLAND.

By the arrival this morning of the ship John Dickenson, capt. Boush, in 42 days from Belfast, we have received Belfast papers to the 12th October, containing London dates to the 7th.

The Bulletins of the queen's health state that the symptoms of her disease continued unaltered; but that she had enjoyed quiet sleep, and appeared refreshed.

Our latest paper mentions, that there was another afflictive conflagration at Constantinople on the 15th of August, which occasioned the destruction of some thousands of dwelling houses, with a number of mosques and christian churches. The fire is stated to have been caused by the janissaries in revenge for the massacre of the families of their body by the insurgents of Sirvas. Placards were posted demanding the dismissal of the Grand Vizier and other ministers; but the government, it appears, displayed more than its usual firmness on this occasion. A Firman was issued, exhorting the people to remain tranquil, and the only change made in the Ministry was the dismissal of the Captain Pachia.

A letter from Madeira dated the 15th of September, states, that Lord Cochrane touched at that Island on the 27th of Aug. and proceeded on the same day for Columbia river.

The Stock Market at London, in consequence of the accounts from the Allied Congress, opened very briskly on the morning of the 7th of October. Consols continued to rise gradually throughout the day. They closed at 76 1/8 for money, and for account three eighths higher. Considerable purchases were made, and the speculators who had sold out appeared to be alarmed.

Prices Current at Belfast Oct. 9. Wheat, 16s to 17s per cwt; flour, first, 32s; second, 29s; butter, firkin, 11s per cwt; ashes, American pot, 6s; do pearl, 8s; tobacco, leaf, 11d to 18d; tallow, Russian, 10s to 10s 6d per cwt; do rough, 10s 6d to 11s per stone or 16 lb; rosin, 13s per cwt; timber, American, 5d per foot.

ON SOUTH-AMERICAN AFFAIRS.

Mr. Graham to the Secretary of State.
[CONCLUDED.]

It will be seen from the documents in your possession, that this provisional constitution recognizes many of the principles of free government; but with such drawbacks as are little calculated to enforce them in practice. Great allowances are doubtless to be made for the circumstances of the times, and the danger and difficulty of tearing up ancient institutions, or of adapting new principles to them. But after due allowance for all these considerations, it did not appear to me that so much had been done for the cause of civil liberty as might have been expected, or that those in power were its strongest advocates. It is generally admitted, however, that some changes for the better have been made. Much care seems to be taken to educate the rising generation, and, as those who are now coming on the theatre of action, have grown up since the commencement of the revolution, and have had the advantage of the light thrown in by it, it is fair to suppose that they will be better prepared to support and administer a free government, than those whose habits were formed under the colonial government of Spain.

The commerce and manufactures of the country have grown beyond its agriculture. Various causes, however, have contributed to lessen some branches of manufacture since the revolution, but commerce is understood to have been increased by it. A much greater variety and quantity of foreign goods are imported, and a greater demand is opened for the productions of the country. The city of Buenos Ayres is the seat of this commerce. From it foreign, and some domestic goods, are spread through the interior, as far as Chili and Upper Peru; and, in return, the various productions are drawn to it. This trade is carried on principally by land, as is that between the different provinces, though some small portion of it finds its way up and down the large rivers forming the La Plata, which is itself not so much a river as a great bay. The abundance of cattle, horses, and mules, and of some other animals peculiar to the country, which are used in the mountainous regions of Peru, furnish facilities for transportation, not to be found in any other country so little improved; hence the price of transportation is very low, and the internal trade greater than it otherwise would be, though it had been materially lessened in some important branches by the war with Peru, and the system adopted in Paraguay.

The export and import trade is principally in the hands of the British, though the United States and other nations participate in it to a certain degree. It is depended on as the great source of revenue to the state; hence they have been tempted to make the duties very high, and to lay them upon imports & exports, with the exception of lumber and military stores. This circumstance, connected with the fact that payment is demanded at the custom house before the goods are delivered, has led to a regular system of smuggling, which is said to be carried to great excess, and doubtless occasions the official returns to fall short of the actual amount of the trade. This may be the reason why they were not given to us. The articles imported are almost every variety of European and East India goods, principally from England. Rum, sugar, coffee, tobacco, cotton, and timber from Brazil. Lumber of almost every description, cod-fish, furniture, gin, and some smaller articles, from the United States, together with military stores; which, however, find their way into the country directly from Europe, and are thus furnished at a cheaper rate than we can sell them. The principal articles of export are taken from the various animals of the country, tame and wild, from the ox to the chinchilla—copper from Chili, and some of the precious metals, drawn from Peru; but, as gold is worth 317 the oz. and passed by sale at that rate, very little of it is exported; hence the currency of the country is gold, for they have no paper money. The "Libranzas," or bills of credit, issued by the government are, however, an article of traffic among the merchants, as they are received in payment of one half of the duties. No distinction is made in favor of the trade of any nation, save only that the British merchants have some peculiar facilities granted them in relation to their letters, which are an object of taxation, at least so far as applies to those sent out of the country.

In the official statements given to us, and to which I beg leave generally to refer for information as to the foreign relations, the productions, military & naval force, revenue and population, the latter is stated at 1,300,000, exclusive of Indians. This is understood as comprehending the population of all the provinces; but, as some of them are not under the government at Buenos Ayres, I have thought proper to annex the several estimates I collected of the population of each province, as they may serve to give some general information on that point. The most immediate difficulty felt by the government, whilst we were in the country, seemed to arise from the want of money; for, although the debt was small, their credit was low. It had not been found practicable to adopt a system of finance adequate to the exigencies of the times, though it would seem, from the statement given to us, that the revenue of the last year exceeded the expenses. The important events of the present year in Chili, of which you are informed, will doubtless have the effect to raise the credit of the country, and to lessen the pressure upon it, at least for a time, and will probably leave the government more at leisure to attend to its internal affairs.

When we came away, it was understood that a committee of the congress was engaged in drafting a new constitution, the power of forming and adopting it being exclusively vested in the congress. Whether it will assume a federal or a national character, is somewhat doubtful, as there are evidently two parties in the country, whose views, in this respect, are very different, and it is believed that they are both represented in the congress. The one party is in favor of a consolidated or national government, the other wishes for a federal government, somewhat upon the principles of that of the United States. The probability seems to be, that, although there might be a majority of the people in the provinces generally in favor of the federal system, that it would not be adopted upon the ground that it was not so well calculated for a national government to provide for the common defence, the great object now in view. The same general reason may be urged, perhaps, for giving to the latter should it be adopted, less of a republican character than probably would have been given to it in more quiet and peaceful times. There is danger, too, as the power of forming and adopting the constitution is placed in the hands of a few, that the rights and privileges of the people may not be so well understood, or attended to, as they would have been had the people themselves had a more immediate agency in the affair. It is not to be doubted, that it will at least have a republican form, and be bottomed upon the principles of independence, which is contended for by all descriptions of politicians in the country, who have taken part in the revolution, and will, it is believed, be supported by them, in any event, to the last extremity.

Their means of defence, of which they are fully aware, are, in proportion to the numbers, greater perhaps than those of any other people, and the duration, and extent of the war, have strengthened the general determination never to submit to Spain.—This determination rests upon the recollections of former sufferings and deprivations, upon a conscientiousness of their ability to defend and to govern themselves; and upon a conviction that, in case of submission, on any terms, they would sooner or later, be made to feel the vengeance of the mother country. These considerations doubtless have the most weight upon the minds of those who have taken a leading part. They of course use all their influence to enforce them, and thus to keep up the spirit of the revolution. In this they probably have had the less difficulty, as, although the sufferings of the people have been great, particularly in military service, and in raising the contributions necessary for that service, yet the incubus of Spanish power being thrown off, and with it that train of evils which filled up almost every avenue to wealth and consequence, the higher classes have been awakened to a sense of advantages they did not before enjoy. They have seen their commerce freed from legal restraints; their articles of export become more valuable; their supplies furnished at a lower rate, and all the officers of government, or other employments, laid open to them as fair objects of competition. The lower classes have found their labor more in demand, and better paid for; and their importance in society greater than it formerly was.

They are yet, however, from their indolence, general want of education, and the great mixture of "cast" among them, in a degraded state, but little felt in the affairs of the government. The stimulus now given will operate to produce a change a them for the better; and it is to be presumed, will gradually have its effect, as their docility, intelligence, and activity, when called into service, give evidence that they are not deficient in natural or physical powers.

Labor, as it becomes more general, will become less irksome to individuals, and the gradual acquisition of property which must generally result from it in such a country under a good government, will doubtless produce the happy effects there, which has uniformly produced elsewhere, and more especially in countries where the population is small when compared to the extent of territory.

I am very sensible that I may have been led into errors of fact, or inference. In that case I can plead honesty of intention, and the difficulty of collecting at a single point, and without a limited time, correct information; or of analyzing that which was collected, respecting a people in a state of revolution, who are spread over an immense country, and whose habits, institutions, and language, are so different from our own.

I have only to add, that we were politely received by the supreme director, who made every profession for our government, and every offer of accommodation to us, as its agents, which we had a right to expect, and that the people manifested on all occasions the most friendly dispositions.

September 28

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria. It is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Potomac creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaster acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania. I have used 500 bushels in twenty months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary out-house, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 500 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvas backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment. Letters must be addressed to me at Pollock Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

September 4

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirous of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence. The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house, and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables. There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutritious as the best timothy or clover. With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, Esq. or

CHARLES SIMMS.

Gill Nets! Gill Nets!

To the Citizens of Washington, Frederick, and Montgomery counties. AS the General Assembly of Maryland will sit in the course of a few weeks, I take the liberty of calling the attention of the people of the upper counties to the subject of Gill Nets; that all those who may agree with me in opinion, may unite in petitions to the Legislature to pass such laws as may effectually prevent the use of them hereafter in the Potomac. Since the introduction of these Nets into our waters, the people of the upper counties have experienced the most pernicious effects of this practice. It is a fact well known; that many persons at the last season, after leaving their homes, with their teams, at the most busy season of the year, and travelling, perhaps, from 50 to 100 miles to reach the nearest landings, and after being detained there a considerable time, exposed to the inclemencies of the weather, and often without any shelter but what was afforded to them by the coverings of their waggon, while their crops too were suffering greatly at home, were obliged at last to return without any fish. Some procured their Herrings, but not one in ten could get the Shad they wanted for their families. These Gill Nets, it is said, are fished almost exclusively by persons from the Eastward—a covetous people they must be—they would take the bread from our mouths if they could do it—and they certainly will the fish if left to themselves. It is stated they had 500 vessels engaged in this business during the last season; such a number of Nets will form such an obstruction in the river as to keep back the Shad altogether, and by breaking the schools of Herrings will render even the catching of them uncertain. And what adds to our grievance, the fish that are caught in this manner are not disposed of to our citizens, but are cured on board the vessels that take them, and carried as an article of traffic to some other portions of the Union, or, perhaps, to foreign parts. The people of the upper counties are peculiarly situated; living remote from any of the Rivers, with which nature has so bountifully watered our state, they have only an opportunity afforded to them once a year of procuring fish of any kind for their families; and it rests with the Legislature to determine whether they shall be deprived of this right, attended as it is too, with great sacrifice, expense and trouble; and it must be known to the members that may compose that body, that fish, from long use and custom, have become indispensably necessary to our families. If any doubt should exist as to the facts herein stated, I have only to observe that they will be entirely removed by referring to any one from either of the upper counties, who attended at the landings either of the two last seasons, particularly the last. Having said much more than I intended, I have only to call upon all those who feel an interest in this business, to lose no time in getting signatures to such a petition as I have recommended—and also to see and converse upon the subject with such persons as they may think proper to send as delegates to the next General Assembly; and I have also to request the favor of the editors of the Fredericktown papers, to give these remarks a place in their respective papers, that the subject may be fully brought before the people of the upper counties.
